THE PAST LT. GOVERNORS ASSOCIATION
(Road Runners)

On August 12, 1978 at the Texas-Oklahoma District Convention in Amarillo, Texas the Past Lt. Governors Association was formed under the leadership of Governor Don Wilson (1976-1977) and Lt. Governor Arthur Swanberg (1976-1977).

The primary purpose of the PLGA is to assist in the promotion of the Objects of Kiwanis International and therein provide leadership for the growth of Kiwanis. To aid and assist current lt. governors as needed in their divisions, to willingly serve as advisor and consultant to all Kiwanians and clubs and to assist and support the Service Leadership Programs. PLGA members are ready to serve in whatever capacity needed to seek out, assist and encourage Kiwanians in the district and the only requirement necessary to enlist PLGA aid is "TO ASK." The symbol of the organization is the Road Runner.

The Convention History of the Texas-Oklahoma District

The first Kiwanis Club in what is now the Texas-Oklahoma District, was officially completed February 10, 1917, at Dallas, Texas, with a membership of 200. The charter was presented on March 28, 1918. Records indicate Dr. J. L. Holloway was the first President, with H. L. Kelley as Secretary. It is not intended to glorify the Dallas Club (00029), but being the first club west of the Mississippi, with the exception of St. Louis, its formation was very important event in Kiwanis history, as subsequent events proved.

The second club in the District was officially completed on April 25, 1918, at Oklahoma City, Oklahoma (00087), with charter membership of 200. The charter was presented by Orville Thorpe, of Dallas. First President was Edward Howell; first Secretary was Howard T. Deupree.

The third club in the district was Tulsa, Oklahoma (00124), completed June7, 1918, with a charter membership of 150. The charter was officially presented to the club January 13, 1919, by Joe A. Garrety, of Dallas. The first President was John R. Woodward; the first Secretary was W. B. Miller.

Due to the increasing number of clubs across the country, and realizing the value of District organization be set up. In October 1918, the Dallas Club selected one of its members to service as interim Governor of the Texas-Oklahoma District until an organization conference would be arranged. The first meeting was in Tulsa, Oklahoma, and on February 10, 1919, the Texas-Oklahoma District was organized. Joe Garrety, Kiwanis Club of Dallas, Texas, who was selected for the interim organization, was elected Governor.

In his capacity as International Secretary, 0. Sam Cummings conducted the official organization meeting. His recommendation that the clubs of the States of Texas and Oklahoma be combined to form the Texas-Oklahoma District, was confirmed at this meeting.

The first District Convention, was held on September 1-2, 1919 at Fort Worth, Texas. The next convention of the Texas-Oklahoma District was held in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

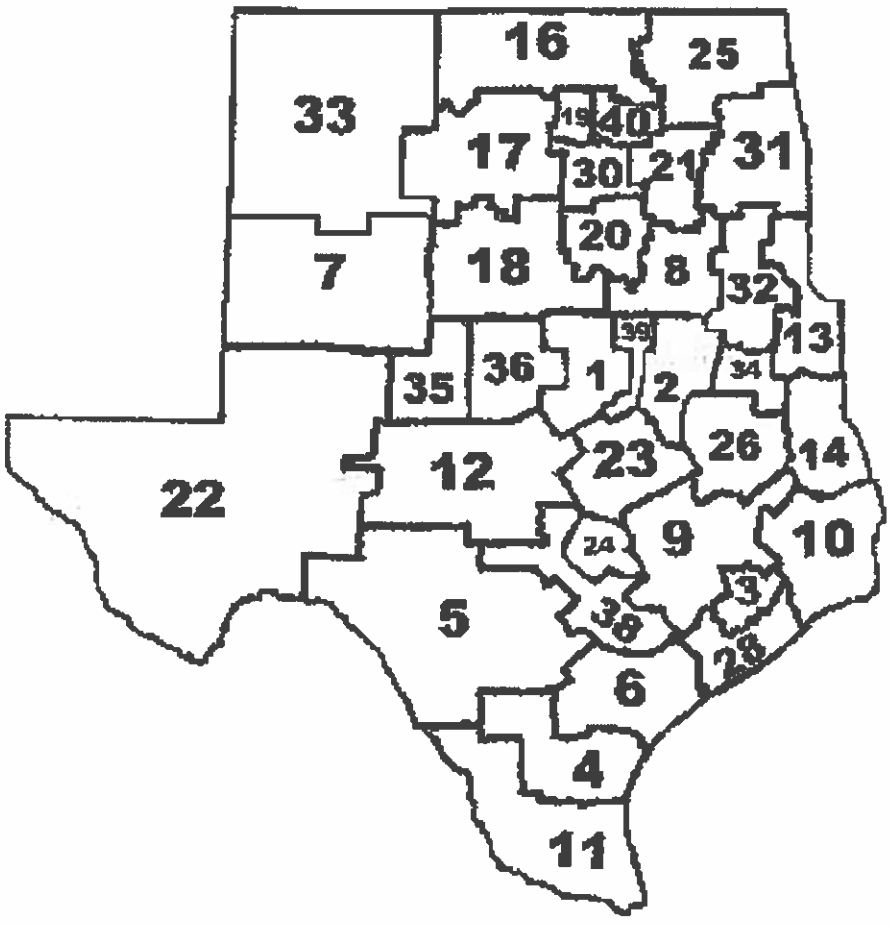
HISTORY OF THE TEXAS-OKLAHOMA DISTRICT

The first Kiwanis Club in what is now the Texas-Oklahoma District, was officially completed February 10, 1917, at Dallas, Texas, with a membership of 200. The charter was presented on March 28, 1918. Records indicate Dr. J. L. Holloway was the first President, with H. L. Kelley as Secretary. It is not intended to glorify the Dallas Club (00029), but being the first club west of the Mississippi, with the exception of St. Louis, its formation was very important event in Kiwanis history, as subsequent events proved.

The second club in the District was officially completed on April 25, 1918, at Oklahoma City, Oklahoma (00087), with charter membership of 200. The charter was presented by Orville Thorpe, of Dallas. First President was Edward Howell; first Secretary was Howard T. Deupree.

The third club in the district was Tulsa, Oklahoma (00124), completed June 7, 1918, with a charter membership of 150. The charter was officially presented to the club January 13, 1919, by Joe A. Garrety, of Dallas. The first President was John R. Woodward; the first Secretary was W. B. Miller.



Due to the increasing number of clubs across the country, and realizing the value it was decided to set up a District organization.

In October 1918, the Dallas Club selected one of its members to service as interim Governor of the Texas-Oklahoma District until an organization conference would be arranged. The first meeting was in Tulsa, Oklahoma, and on February 10, 1919, the Texas-Oklahoma District was organized. Joe Garrety, Kiwanis Club of Dallas, Texas, who was selected for the interim organization, was elected Governor.

Introducing the Marketing Team

This year, the Texas Oklahoma Kiwanis District has decided to create a specialized team of marketing experts to help clubs around the district improve their "reach" into their communities. This team will provide training and resources to any club that needs assistance. It will also help the district with future programs.
The mission of the marketing team for the TX-OK District of Kiwanis is three-fold:

To assist clubs with their own marketing message, including a strong call to action (WHY Kiwanis and WHY their club).

This will include training on how to establish a club website, social media presence, press releases, how to invite local media, information on club growth from the District, and more.We will also promote the new KI brand guidelines helping to create consistent brand awareness throughout the District.

To serve as a hub of information at the District level for all leaders (Gov., Staff, Trustees, Lt. Governors, Club leadership, and etc).

Communication from the District level will be geared towards current members whether it is offering inspiring stories they can share on their own social platforms via video or social media posts, club or leadership resources, trainings, calendar items, KI brand guidelines, webinars on topics of interest, celebrating clubs in Ki-Notes, promoting contests, setting up Zoom conferencing for meetings, or assisting clubs with their own marketing initiatives.

To promote District service projects (Ex. Harvey Relief efforts), leadership (i.e. new Governor), events (DCON, I-LEAD, etc.) to appropriate media outlets.

Introducing the Marketing Team

Marshall Kregel - For 30 years, Marshall served as an IT tech, software trainer, hardware technician, proposal writer, and worked on the marketing and PR teams for Automated Visual Communications, Inc. of Dallas, retiring from the computer world in 2016. Since joining Kiwanis, he has been a club president, Lt. Gov. (distinguished), District Website chair, Technology Chair, Disaster Relief Chair and is now the Marketing Chair for the district until August of 2019. He lives in Frisco, Texas, with his wife Connie and remains a 15 year member of the Richardson Kiwanis Club.

Mark Jones - Mark is a 20-year veteran television journalist. He worked at stations across Texas as a photographer, editor, reporter, and newscast producer before moving into management as an Executive Producer. He's received numerous awards throughout his career including a National Press Club award, 5 EMMY Awards, and an Edward R. Murrow award for newscast excellence. Mark is a former U.S. Navy officer and Key Club member and lives in Dallas with his wife, a municipal judge and criminal defense attorney.

Tom Brehm - Tom has been in Kiwanis for six years. Originally, he was a member of the Richardson club but he's recently transferred his membership to the newly formed SWM (Sachse-Wylie-Murphy) Club where he'll be serving as Treasurer for the 2018-2019 year. He has thirty years of technical experience working at such companies as Cisco, Ericsson, Alcatel, and MCI. He is now retired and has been spending his time learning various content management systems for the web.

Introducing the Marketing Team

Chris Pierce - Chris joined Kiwanis in 2003 and soon became an active member of his club. Chris is very proud of his involvement and experiences in Kiwanis including numerous club and leadership accolades. As a new Lt. Governor, Chris plans to help in any way possible to better each of the clubs and the division as a whole. Together we can learn from one another, and carry on the great traditions that have made Kiwanis the great organization that it is today!

Sean Dempsey - Sean is currently serving as the District Secretary of the Texas-Oklahoma district of Circle K International and is currently serving as the KiNotes editor. Sean is a senior management major from Texas A&M University. With 7 years of involvement with the Kiwanis family, Sean is looking to serve Kiwanis by providing the best version of KiNotes there has ever been!

Susan Hennum is a 32-year member of the Garland Kiwanis Club and a charter member of SWM Kiwanis club. Susan is Executive Director of Counseling Institute of Texas in Garland, a non-profit family counseling center. Susan is a past Distinguished Governor of the Texas Oklahoma District (2011/2012) and current chair of the Growth Team*. Susan has served as Kiwanis International Central Regional Chair for the Formula, International Chair of K-Kids and is a certified new club builder and club counselor. Susan was also honored in 2012 as a Whitehouse Champion of Change.*

It's Time For the Membership Corner

Susan Hennum

IS IT TIME FOR A MEMBERSHIP BLITZ?

Are you suffering from a lack of members???

Have you gotten so small you are afraid to invite guests??

Unfortunately, many of our clubs suffer from this dilemma. How about a Membership Blitz then - A one time big event inviting community-minded people just like you to come hear about Kiwanis.

Go to the District website at www.txokkiwanis.org and click on the member resources button. You will see membership....there you will find everything you need to launch a successful campaign. Want to know how to get started?

1. First, you need a leader to chair this effort.

2. Order your supplies from Kiwanis International. Membership brochures, information on Sponsored Leadership Programs and Corporate Membership handouts.

3. Then, contact your local chamber and see if they have weekly coffee meetings which are usually free to anyone. Assign one or two members to attend.

4. But before you start inviting……

DO YOU HAVE A FACEBOOK PAGE? WEBSITE?? If your answer to that is NO you need to contact our Marketing Department. Marshall Kregel and his team can build you a website and a Facebook Page for a small fee. This will be money well spent and you must have a social media presence if this is to be a successful campaign.

There is a how to step by step book in the resources tab for membership. Download it, print it out and give your members a copy. Examples of all the ad invitations are also right there.

Need help??? Call me and let's talk.

The Path of Least Resistance

Mark Jones

We're all busy people. Work. School. Life. Even the simple things can add up to a lot of work. Now put yourself in the editor/producer chair at a news organization, trying to deliver the news with fewer people and fewer resources.

That's good news for Kiwanis. Here are a few recommendations for helping them help you.

First, plan like they do. Unless it's a major holiday, a day of remembrance like 9/11, or a sports season, the news industry is not really planning months in advance for anything. Don't try to change them. A week's notice is about as far in advance as you'll get. Check back a couple of days before. Don't get discouraged. Be persistent but also be helpful.

Second, often the easiest way to tell your story is to do it yourself. If a reporter and photographer cover your event, great. If they don't, that's not a problem. Shoot video or still photos yourself and share it with them. Give written answers to the questions they'll likely ask. Provide them a contact person - with that person's mobile phone number! And don't think you have to have an expensive camera. Your smartphone is perfect for the job. Just make sure you hold it side-to-side and not up-and-down. Hold your phone the way your TV is oriented and you'll be just fine.

Third, know your media. Look for the outlets and shows that have the time to devote to a positive subject. Getting a local TV morning show interested is far more likely than appearing in an evening newscast. Radio is also extremely valuable and there are various stations and shows to fit the Kiwanis need. We do big things. Look for opportunities to spend the most time talking about them!

Fourth, find charity events in which the media themselves are involved. You'll often find that Kiwanis projects are a great fit. For example, the annual Marine Corps Reserve Toys for Tots have media partners all over the country. A charity that helps kids has a natural connection with Kiwanis. Use that as your calling card. Make a connection.

Fifth, it's okay to be direct and personal. Journalists tend to have more trust in people they know, even if that connection is through social media. There's a person attached to that account, in other words. Use that to your advantage. You'll often have more luck pitching a story to a journalist directly than going to the person who assigns their story. You'll also get more engaged journalist if they're telling the story that they themselves have found. Keep in mind that, although most journalists have a presence on Facebook, their preferred platform is Twitter. Also remember that blasting all of the reporters at a newspaper or at a TV station at one time will have the exact opposite effect. Reporters who realize they're all pitching the same story from the same person tend to feel a bit, well, exploited.

A wise news director once told me that "We are not our audience." He meant that you need to take your own likes and opinions out of the equation if you want to get your message across. Find out what journalists need to tell your story and give it to them. Be that "path of least resistance". Help them help you.

Media Quick Tips: Photos

Mark Jones

There's more than one way to take a photo. You don't have to use two hands to take a photo with your phone. When the camera is open on your smartphone, pressing either of the volume buttons will take a photo. This goes for iPhones and Android devices.

Look up. There is an easy way to make everyone in a photo look better: hold your phone or your camera up higher. That forces people to look up. Extra chins disappear. Everyone looks thinner. You'll be amazed at how many compliments you'll get. Conversely, don't ever make anyone look down at your camera.

Windows: your best friend and your worst enemy. It all depends on where you are in relation to the people or things you're photographing. Never, ever put your subject in front of a window where light is coming through. The subject will be so dark, they'll be unrecognizable. And if you do have enough light to have the subject visible, the rest of it will be so bright, the photo will be useless. Keep windows behind you.

Focus and Exposure Lock. Your camera is programmed to take the best picture it can. But, sometimes, you really do know better. If you want to override the focus and exposure (light) settings, tap and hold the point on the screen until you see the indicator on screen that (on an iPhone) has a yellow box with AF/AE. Now the phones will ignore any movement in what you're photographing. You can also tap, hold and slide your finger up and down on the screen to change the exposure (how light or dark it is). To go back to automatic, just tap once on the screen.

Landscape is your friend. We're talking about photos that are up-and-down (portrait) instead of side-to-side (landscape). If you are taking video or shooting still pictures, always hold the phone in landscape - just like your TV. If vertical photos or videos are going to be used by a TV station, an editor will usually have to go back and add something to the wasted space on the sides of a vertical image (usually a blurred version of the video itself). That's time and money out the window.

Fly on the Wall. The best photographers are rarely seen. They find ways to be in the middle of the action, get their photo and be gone before anyone notices. Don't pose your photos, show the action. Someone cooking a pancake is a lot more interesting than someone posing with the finished product. Someone building a Habitat for Humanity House is more interesting than getting a group photo of everyone standing in front of it. As a wise Chief Photographer once told me: "Action-Reaction. The story happens all around you."
